ATTLEE FAILS TO SOLVE KASHMIR PROBLEM

Liaquat On Two Secret Talks At Downing Street PAKISTAN PREMIER CRITICISES NEHRU'S ATTITUDE

"Status Quo" Of October 1947, Persists Even Today

LONDON, Oct. 25 (Reuter): Prime Minister Liaquat Ali Khan of Pakistan tacitly admitted tonight that the two secret talks he had with Prime Minister Attlee, Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and Prime Minister Nehru had not brought a solution of the Kashmir problem any nearer.

Although the Prime Minister made no reference to the secret Downing Street meetings, he said, in reply to a question at a news conference whether there had been any attempt to effect a compromise settlement: "I have met Prime Minister Nehru but unfortunately we are where we have been since October, 1947."

PAKISTAN'S ATTITUDE

Discussing the Kashmir problem, Mr. Liaquat Ali Khan said: "I agree to a plebiscite; I accept a plebiscite although I would be entitled to say there need be no question of a plebiscite because Kashmir geographically, culturally and economically belongs to Pakistan. But I have accepted that position."

"Unfortunately, however, India and Pakistan have not been able to agree on the terms of the plebiscite. While I want a fair and impartial plebiscite and am willing to accept the verdict of the people, my friend the Prime Minister of India wants a plebiscite under Indian bayonets and under an administration of his own liking. This could not be a fair and impartial plebiscite. So that is the fundamental difference that exists between India and Pakistan."

The Prime Minister later said he was prepared to accept United Nations supervision of the plebiscite and added "I shall never be a party to handing over 3,200,000 Muslims to India by means of coercion."

Referring to yesterday's elections in the French settlements, he said: "Whatever the procedure and results be, yesterday's municipal elections are quite insignificant as the French Government shall resume negotiations with the Indian Government in a most healthy and cordial atmosphere."

M. Laugnie yesterday visited the different polling stations in the city and surrounding communities.

Moscow's Fresh Proposal On Disarmament

PARIS, OCTOBER 25 (REUTERS): THE SOVIET UNION TODAY CALLED FOR THE SETTING UP OF AN INTERNATIONAL CONTROL ORGANIZATION TO WHICH FULL OFFICIAL DATA REGARDING THE STATE OF ARMAMENTS AND ARMED FORCES OF THE BIG FIVE WILL HAVE TO BE SUBMITTED.

The proposal was made in a meeting of the United Nations Disarmament Sub-Committee.

The original Soviet proposal, which demanded a one-third cut within a year of all present land, naval and air forces, recommended an international control body but made no reference to the "full official data" of each country's armaments and armed forces, which it now asks, should be submitted.

SURPRISE AMENDMENT

Mr. Jacob Malik tabled his surprise amendment after the Disarmament Sub-Committee had spent the whole morning discussing a new Belgian resolution which defined that the first step towards disarmament should be the "receipt, checking and publication by an international organ of control endowed with universally accepted powers."

It recommended the Security Council to "pursue the study of the regulation and reduction of conventional armaments and armed forces through the Commission for conventional armaments in order to implement the Charter "as soon as the improvement in the international atmosphere permits."

It also asked for "full information" as to effectiveness.

NEW TYPE OF STAR EMITS RADIO WAVES

CANBERRA, Oct. 25 (Reuter).—The possible existence of a new type of star, termed a "Radio" star, was announced today by the Australian Council of Scientific and Industrial Research.

Mr. J. J. Derman, the Minister in charge of the Council, said the star was thought to emit radio waves but not light.

The Council, in using sensitive microwave receivers to study radiation from the sun and moon, received radiations from points in inter-stellar space, where there were no visible stars.

Accurate determinations of the position of the source of the radio noise pointed strongly to the possibility of a new star in the constellation Cygnus, he said.

Three Killed In 'Dakota' Crash

SOVIET VETO ON BERLIN ISSUE

Opposition To Immediate Lifting Of Blockade: Moscow's New Plan To U. N.

PARIS, October 25 (Reuter).—The Soviet Union today vetoed a Security Council resolution calling for: (1) Immediate lifting of the Berlin blockade followed at ten days interval by: (2) The introduction of the Soviet mark as Berlin's sole currency; and (3) A Council of Foreign Ministers on the whole German problem.

LITTLE NATIONS' SUPPORT

The three Western delegates and the six Little Nations voted for the resolution. M. Andrei Vyshinsky, Chief Soviet delegate, and M. Dmitri Manulsky, Ukrainian Foreign Minister, voted against.

M. Vyshinsky said in using the veto he was exercising his rights as a permanent member of the Council under Article 27 of the Charter (the right of veto).

The Soviet Government, he said, could not agree to lift the blockade.

had undertaken in "seeking to draw the disputing parties closer together."

The resolution before the Council did not fully meet the views held by the three Western Powers when they brought their complaint before the Council, M. Parodi said.

"But we appreciate that in apprising the Council of the Berlin problem we placed a particularly heavy burden upon it, and in accepting the resolution we are showing ourselves completely faithful to the Charter of the United Nations."

"In the name of my Government I until the Berlin currency problem was settled. The resolution was a violation of the Moscow directive of August 30 which referred the problem to the Military Governors in Berlin.

The debate took place after day-long behind-the-scenes talks on a last-minute offer from the Kremlin which the Western Powers could not accept.

MOSCOW'S NEW PROPOSAL
Western delegates and the "little six" neutrals had been discussing a new proposal from M. Andrei Vyshinsky, chief Soviet delegate which a western source described as an "extremely complicated" system of co-ordinating the timing between lifting the blockade and completing agreement on currency.

The meeting had been scheduled for 3 p.m. (local time) but was postponed until 5 p.m. and then delayed another 40 minutes while these emergency meetings went on.

The debate was opened by M. Alexandre Parodi, of France, who paid tribute to the six neutrals for the extraordinarily difficult job they state that we accept the resolution and will vote in favour of it.

BRITAIN'S SUPPORT
Sir Alexander Cadogan (Britain) said: "The British Government accepts the resolution which it regards as embodying a fair solution. The British Government will do its utmost by loyally carrying out its provisions, to achieve a satisfactory settlement."

For the United States, Dr. Philip C. Jessup said "we recognise the resolution as the result of an imaginative and sincere effort to find a solution of a difficult problem."

"We have received it with respect and have carefully studied it. We find it characterised by a spirit of reciprocity and by the development of a logical progression of ideas."

The United States took the resolution to contemplate three steps, two of which should take place on the day its adoption was notified to the four occupying powers.

All through the speeches M. Vyshinsky occasionally scribbled, listened or

Convict Escapes In Movie Stunt Fashion

JUMPS INTO MOVING TAXI AND DISAPPEARS FROM SCENE

BOMBAY, Monday. SHEER MAHOMED SHEER DIL, A STRONG, HEFTY, DESPERADO, NOW UNDER SENTENCE OF SEVEN YEARS' IMPRISONMENT ON ONE ROBBERY CHARGE AND BEING TRIED FOR ANOTHER, IS AT LARGE.

For the last four days the city police force have used all their ingenuity and strained all their resources to apprehend this notorious dacoit, but have so far failed. So keen were they to get him that a virtual new black-out was maintained. It is only now, four days after the event, that some particulars about the man and his sensational escape have come to light.

The manner in which Sher Dil effected his escape with the help of his associates in crime, was as baffling, as it was simple. He just stepped out of a police van, stepped into a waiting cab and vanished.

It all happened in front of the Girgaum Police Court about 10-30 on Thursday morning. Sher Mahomed Sher Dil was being brought from Arthur Road Prison in a police van. He was there doing his term for seven years awarded to him by the session court on a charge of robbery. There was, however, another case of a daring robbery involving Rs. 12,000, pending against him and two other persons.

This offence was committed in the porch of the Bombay Central Station several months ago. A clerk of the B. and C. I. booking office was coming along with the day's collection, carrying in iron box by a coolie, marching by his side. A green car pulled up near the porch, a man got out, knocked down the coolie and lifted the money box into the car while another man stabbed the coolie. Meanwhile the third accomplice stepped on the gas and the car roared away.

It was after this escape that Sher Dil and his two companions, one of whom is said to be his cousin, were arrested. Then followed the sessions trial on an earlier charge. Sher Dil's gang, who apparently knew all about the habits of the police, fixed up the programme with consummate skill. The time at which the police van bringing undertrials usually arrives, had been carefully noted. An innocent-looking taxi stood opposite the court. It was later discovered that the number plate had been removed and some other bogus plate substituted to mislead the police.

The prisoners stepped out one by one, filed past the waiting constable and turned towards the court looking where they would wait their turn to go before the various courts. Eye witnesses told a reporter of this that the taxi, which was fixed up by the van in a leisurely manner. By then the waiting taxi had started moving. With its rear door open, it pulled up alongside. Suddenly, as if all hell was breaking loose, people saw Sher Dil take the "wrong" turn, but instead of moving towards the lock-up, step into the car. Before the waiting constable realised what had happened the taxi had gathered speed and was heading towards Frarinas Samal. The dazed police hardly had time to collect their wits and start a chase before the taxi turned west into Sandhurst Road and headed towards Bhendi Bazaar.

So far this is the last glimpse the police had of Sher Dil. He had done a clean job.

Checking Overcrowding in Tramcars

Police Action Not At Instance Of B. E. S. T. Committee But To Preserve Law And Order

(By Our Staff Reporter)

BOMBAY, Monday: While public feeling against the action of the police in making all surplus passengers get off tramcars is mounting, it is now explained that it is in no way illegal for a person to travel in a tramcar that has already got its full complement of passengers.

The new system by which the police actually induce or force passengers to get off tramcars, which started on Monday last, is not at all at the instance of the BEST Committee. It is understood

The police, it is stated, are taking action not in pursuance of any notification or order issued by the Commissioner of police but merely as part of their duty to observe law and order.

WHY POLICE INTERVENE

The whole position seems to come about in a roundabout manner. It is the BEST Union that has instructed its workers to refuse to drive a tram if it is overloaded. If the conductors as good Union men obey these orders strictly and members of the public insist on crowding into the tram, a very anomalous position is created, which may even lead to a breach of the peace. It is because of this, it is explained, that the police intervene and see that the public do not crowd into tram.

Of course there are certain bye-laws of the Committee under which the tram conductors can take shelter. These bye-laws permit a conductor to ask a passenger to leave a vehicle under certain circumstances. These bye-laws are being fully exploited now.

But the position with regard to the BEST is quite different. There is a clear order issued by the Commissioner of Police regulating bus traffic and preventing overcrowding. A spokesman of the BEST told a reporter of this paper that although the Committee was not directly responsible for the new order, it was glad that things had happened in this particular manner. The BEST, he said, had long ago asked Government for powers to ban excess carriage in tram, but had not received the requisite authority.

FALL IN NUMBER OF "SICK" TRAM CARS

The spokesman denied that there was any fall in the company's average receipts since last Monday, most of the surplus travellers being ticketless. Actually the company had been able to put more trams in service. While the average in recent months was 160, the figure had now risen to 230 units per day. Another 20 were expected to be on the roads shortly, relieving congestion, somewhat, he said.

He stated that the number of cars going to the depots as "sick" had fallen off.

"We are scouring the whole world for more tramcars," he said. But tramcars were simply not available. The utmost that could be done was the securing of about 30 tramcars from America. These too were second-hand and unfit for using on local tracks without some major changes for they were constructed for trucks

Delivery Of Telegrams During Closed Hours

A large number of telegrams addressed to firms, business houses, etc., are returned undelivered to the Central Telegraph Office, Bombay, by the delivery messengers during the night on grounds of "Office closed", "Gate closed", etc. This causes the Government unnecessary heavy expenditure by way of delivery charges of messengers, and also frustrates the attempt made to improve the efficiency of the Telegraph Service due to the messengers wasting their time in ineffectual attempts for delivery.

Public offices, firms, hotels, clubs, boarding houses, etc., with or without registered abbreviated addresses, who have not registered separately special delivery instructions, regarding delivery of their telegrams during closed hours, are therefore requested to make immediate arrangements for receiving telegrams at all hours of the day and night.

The fee for registration of standing instructions for delivery of telegrams during fixed hours is Rs. 5 yearly or Rs. 2-6 half-yearly for registered abbreviated address and Rs. 20 for yearly or Rs. 12 half yearly for others.

In case after this press notification, special delivery instructions are not registered by such firms, etc., concerned, whose telegrams are systematically returned as undelivered, it will be considered that delivery during the night is not desired by them, in which case no telegram will be sent out for delivery during their closed hours."

Question Of Indians In South Africa

CANADA EXPLAINS ITS OFFICIAL ATTITUDE

PARIS, Oct. 24 (Reuters). Canada's official attitude towards the question of Indians in South Africa was given to Reuters here tonight in the following terms:

"During the second part of the first session of the General Assembly in 1946 the Government of India accused the Union of South Africa of discriminatory treatment in South Africa of Asiatics in general and Indians in particular on grounds of their race. Discussions in the Assembly on this subject in 1946 were so bitter and acrimonious that friendly relations between the two States were impaired. A resolution was finally adopted by the Assembly stating that 'the treatment of Indians in the Union should be in conformity with international agreements concluded between the two Governments and the relevant provisions of the Charter'."

NO ACTION IN 1947

"The resolution requested the two Governments to report to the next session of the Assembly on measures adopted to give effect thereto. The situation had not materially changed when the matter was discussed in the 1947 session of the Assembly. At that session the Indian Delegation submitted a resolution calling on India, Pakistan and South Africa to hold Round Table discussions on the 1946 resolution. This failed to obtain the necessary two-thirds majority in the General Assembly and was defeated. As no other proposal on this subject secured the required two-thirds majority, the General Assembly took no action on this matter in 1947."

CANADIAN POLICY

"The policy of the Canadian Government on this subject as stated by the Canadian Representative in the Joint Legal and Political Committee of the Assembly in 1946 was to encourage a friendly settlement of the dispute between the two parties. It was the Canadian view that any resolution passed by the Assembly should not contain judgment against either party since neither the facts nor the legal position in dispute had been established by an impartial tribunal. What was obviously required in the Canadian view was a proper determination of the facts, a judicial application of law to facts so determined. "Accordingly in 1946 Canada had supported reference of this question to the International Court of Justice. For the same reason Canada supported another proposal which called upon the two Governments and Pa-

istan to continue their efforts to reach agreement and, in the event that no agreement was reached, to submit the question to the International Court. This resolution was however defeated. The General Assembly's consideration of this subject showed, in Canadian opinion, the great difficulty of discussing an issue of this nature in a political body such as the General Assembly, without first obtaining an impartial legal opinion. "The Indian Government had argued that racial discrimination had taken place against their nationals in the Union of South Africa and the Union Government had replied by saying this was in any case a matter within their domestic jurisdiction. Before the Assembly could take action on this matter it was essential that a legal ruling should be given as to whether this matter was entirely within the jurisdiction of the General Assembly. The obvious body to give such a legal ruling was the International Court of Justice. In the absence of such a legal ruling the Assembly had devoted this subject at length at two sessions and has still not taken any remedial action which would lead to a solution of the dispute in question."

Mr. Eric Louw, Chief South African Representative to the United Nations returned to Paris today from London, where shortly before leaving he had long talks with Canadian Prime Minister Mackenzie King on matters of mutual interest to Canada and South Africa.

Deaths On Highway

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 (UPI). The automobile is not the killer it was a few years back but its record still is far too bloody. Federal Work Administrator Philip B. Fleming said.

Fleming reported that deaths on the highway fell from a peak of 29,909 in 1941 to 22,009 in 1947 for the first half of 1948.

He said the work of the President's Conference on Highway Safety, of which he is chairman, helped reduce the national traffic fatality rate from 12 to 100,000,000 miles of travel in 1945 to 8.6 in 1947 and 7.2 in the first six months of 1948.

Emphasizing the unending need for steady, intensive effort on the part of police judges, educators, engineers and 44,000,000 drivers, Fleming said, "There is not much comfort in a mileage death rate that cost 32,000 lives in 1947," he said.

RELIEF FOR GUJERAT SCARCITY AREAS

Congress Committee To Take Immediate Steps

AHMEDABAD, Oct. 24 (AP). The Gujarat Provincial Congress Committee authorised its Working Committee to organise in collaboration with, or independently of, Government relief in the scarcity areas of Gujarat where starvation of cattle and shortage of drinking water had started.

The committee stated that if the previous Government had taken proper measures there would have been no scarcity, but with the constitution of popular Government at the centre and in the provinces, big irrigation schemes were being prepared and with their prompt execution there would be no more scarcity or famine in Gujarat. Meanwhile, people in distress should not lose heart as the popular Government would do all that was possible for their relief. It was also the duty of those people who were free from distress to come to the rescue of those who were in distress.

PLEA FOR ONE WORLD GOVERNMENT

(From Our Correspondent, BANGALORE, Oct. 24: A spirited plea to the nations of the world to achieve the ideal of one World Government, world citizenship and to raise above nationalism to achieve internationalism was made by Mr. R. E. Dewakar, Member Indian Constituent Assembly, inaugurating the Engineering College Union here.

Referring to the international situation, Mr. Dewakar characterised it as "incendiary". The strong nations of the world, he said, were torn by mutual suspicion and hatred. Even the Security Council had become the mere handmaiden of the strong nations. Instead of common understanding between nations, artificial barriers were created on account of the dread of atomic bombs and other destructive weapons.

India, he thought, could successfully avert the danger to civilisation and humanity. She had rich cultural heritage and natural potentialities to make her industrially and militarily strong and to raise her status in the comity of nations. He pointed out, it is necessary for India to foster international, rather than national or sectarian outlook. The time is not far off when she can contribute to the shaping of the 'one world ideal'. For success requires the application of uniform standards of ethics and morality, justice and fairplay."

U. N. O. STANDS FOR DEMOCRACY

Chagla's Address In Nasik Rotary Club

NASIK, Oct. 24 (AP). Mr. M. C. Chagla, Chief Justice of Bombay and a member of the Indian delegation to the previous session of the General Assembly of the U.N.O. at Lake Success, said here today that there was no alternative to the U.N.O. and for the same of humanity, people must wish it every success.

Mr. Chagla, who was speaking at a U.N.O. pageant held under the auspices of the Nasik Rotary Club in celebration of the United Nations week, said that in U.N.O. the people had a world organisation which stood for some of the finest ideals that humanity had conceived—ideals of equality, democracy, human dignity and the idea that man was superior to various extraneous circumstances like colour, community, sex or caste. Democratic ideals were there in various parts of the world democracy was not functioning as it should. Mr. Chagla said, "There were social, cultural and economic blindfolds in many countries which were members of the U.N.O. These defects and blindfolds could only be removed if there was a world opinion on certain rights and principles. It was not enough to have a world opinion but to give expression to that opinion, there must be a world organisation like the U.N.O. which, he hoped, would be the 'one world' organisation to fight for the rights of mankind throughout the world."

H.M.S. 'Dak' At Ernakulam

ERNAKULAM, Oct. 24 (AP).—H.M.S. 'Dak', flag ship of R.F.M. on her maiden voyage from Bombay to Trincomalee, reached Cochin harbour at 3 p.m. today. She will remain anchored in the Cochin naval base for two days.

The distinguished visitors including Ministers of Travancore, Cochin and Madras who were there in connection with the meeting of the Kerala Provincial Congress Committee for Congress presidential election and the representatives were shown round the ship today.

Life-Long Democrat Supports Dewey

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 (Reuters). Mr. William C. Bullitt, the late President Roosevelt's Ambassador to Moscow and Paris and a life-long democrat, has announced he will support Governor Thomas E. Dewey, Republican presidential candidate.

Mr. Bullitt said in a statement last night: "In spite of my victory in the second world war, we face today a struggle not for security but for survival."

"For this bitter fruit of victory we have to thank the men in our national administration who based our foreign policy on two delusions: that the Soviet Union was propping democracy, and that the Chinese Communists were mere agrarian reformers who had no connection with Moscow."

"If we did not have to be in our present danger we would have won the peace as well as the war but our national administration was incompetent to protect the vital interests of the United States."

"It is equally incompetent today. I have confidence in the ability of Governor Dewey. Therefore I am a life-long Democrat—advocate his election."

Allied War Chiefs Differed On Eve Of Hitler's "V-2" Campaign

Air Chief Marshal Hill Reveals Incidents During London's Fateful Days

LONDON, Oct. 24. (Reuters). A conflict of views among Allied War Chiefs on the eve of Hitler's "V-2" Rocket campaign—between those who said London was safe after the main flying bomb attacks had been beaten off and those who thought otherwise—was disclosed for the first time in a despatch published here this week.

Author of this graphic report is 56-year old Air Chief Marshal Sir Basil Bader, who commanded the Air defence of Great Britain from November 1943 to October 1944 and then Fighter Command until the end of the war in Europe.

The despatch gives a vivid picture of the "V-2" attack on London. The "buzz bombs" had been raining across the English Channel for three months, when the Pas De Calais—main spring of the "V-2" attack—was virtually in Allied hands.

Thereupon, Sir Bader stated, he learned that the Chiefs of Staff considered the threat to London from "V-2" weapons could be regarded as over.

"My intelligence officers felt that as things stood at the moment, we ought to be ready to meet rocket attacks from Western Holland within the next ten days."

The fact remains that an area from which rockets could reach London was to remain in German hands for more than seven months to come and during this time over 1,000 rockets were to fall on British soil.

On September 7, 1944, the news came from the Ministry of Information that "except possibly for a few last shots, the battle of London is over."

The next day the first "V-2" Rocket crashed to earth in West London. Flying bombs came intermittently until the end of March 1945.

ROCKET LAUNCHING SITES. Sir Bader described the arrival of the first "V-2" as a "brilliant fact justifying the argument of caution". In a few days, men of the Dutch Resistance Movement were able to tell the British Air Ministry that

WAVE OF STRIKES IN FINLAND

They Want To Overthrow Present Government

HELSINKI, Oct. 25. (Reuters). Mr. Karl Fagerholm, Finnish Prime Minister, was meeting workers and employers representatives today to try to end the wave of unofficial strikes organised by the Peoples Democratic Party, a merger of Communists and Leftwing Socialists. His move followed the battle outside the Arabia Porcelain Works in Helsinki, between 250 policemen and 1000 demonstrators, but members of the peoples democratic party said there would be bigger demonstrations today, with 3,000 dockers taking part.

Strikers said they wanted to overthrow Mr. Fagerholm's Social Democratic Government, and get a twenty-two percent wage increase. They were demanding the government to give concessions for lower income groups. Mr. Fagerholm asked the Social Democrat dominated Trades Union Federation its opinion on the wage claims. It replied "abolition of wages contracts would lead to unbearable troubles for the country, and might aggravate the already difficult position of the workers."

The federation added it would do all it could to prevent wage agreements being broken. It promised agreement approved by the Government's bill taxation reforms giving concessions for lower income groups. Mr. Aaro Simonsen, Minister of the Interior, said: "The disturbances are political and have nothing to do with economic questions."

A Defeat For Moscow

LONDON, Oct. 25. (Reuters). Confession of Communist sympathisers which has just ended in London has produced something for Stalin to put in his pipe, wrote the Daily Mirror today.

"India and Pakistan have declared where they stand. The declaration is a defeat for Moscow," it said. The paper added: "We still hope that India will be able to remain within the Commonwealth, but it seems that that issue will now be discussed on a constitutional level. The most important choice has already been made. India has chosen to belong to the system of freedom which is the way to keep the independence she has won. Her relations with Britain are more friendly than they have ever been. It is a 'good sign for the world'."

ALLOCATION OF RADIO ACTIVE ISOTOPES

British Supply Ministry Appoints Committee

LONDON, Oct. 26. (Reuters). The British Ministry of Supply announced today the establishment of a committee to decide priorities in allocating radio-active and stable isotopes for scientific, medical and industrial research.

The committee's Chairman will be Sir John D. Cockcroft, Director of the Ministry's atomic energy research establishment at Harwell, Berkshire. Other members will represent the Medical Research Council, the Agricultural Research Council, and the Government's scientific and industrial research, the last named consisting of university and industrial representatives.

The Plastic that has insulation taped!

In 1930 an I.C.I. Research Team began a fundamental study of the effects of extremely high pressures on certain chemical reactions, using 15,000 to 300,000 lbs. per square inch. Three years later, when carrying out a series of experiments using ethylene, a minute trace of a white solid was obtained in the reaction vessel. This product was polythene. Many violent and inexplicable explosions were experienced by the pioneers in their initial development. However, when at length sufficient quantities had been prepared, polythene was found to have unique qualities as an electrical insulator. During the war, polythene made a substantial contribution to the development of radar; was one of the reasons why Allied radar systems were so consistently ahead of those of the enemy. The I.C.I. brand of polythene is known as "Alkathene". To-day, the material is used all over the world in tele-communications equipment and cables of all kinds. Polythene's unusual chemical resistance and properties as a film make this product of I. C. I. research truly the most amazing and versatile plastic of our age.

Gomes now joined Walcott and the two were concerned in a bright, unbroken, fourth-wicket stand which realised 92 runs. Both played aggressive cricket, and remained unbeaten with 73 and 42 respectively to their credit, when C. J. Goddard applied the closure.

The States Eleven going in to bat the second time scored 164 runs for the loss of five wickets, when stumps were drawn, and the match ended in a draw.

ASBESTOS CEMENT IN SEMI-FINAL

Kohinoor Mills Draw In Junior Rovers

BOMBAY, Monday. Two matches were played in the quarter final round of the Junior Rovers Football Tournament on St. Xavier's College Ground, Parel.

In the first game, Asbestos Cement got the better of Khataur Mills by the odd goal in three, and qualified for the semi-final.

The game was marred by another heavy incident at Parel today when Khetnet was ordered off the field for striking a player.

Asbestos had more of the exchanges but Khataur took the lead first when Gajdar scored. The lead was however short lived as Asbestos soon equalised when Johnson scored for them.

The teams crossed over on level terms and after the interval Asbestos scored the winning goal through Gesso.

In the second game Kohinoor Mills and Bombay Port Trust shared four goals.

The Port Trust have themselves to blame for not gaining the day. They had many chances to score but failed at the all important end. H. Abraham was the outstanding player on the field and it was not for him that Port Trust could win the match.

In the second half of the game Abraham changed his position to the forward line and was responsible for meeting two goals.

Kohinoor were the first to score when Huralal netted off a pass from Moreswar.

The mills crossed over with a goal to the good and after the interval Abraham scored two quick goals for the Port Trust giving them a lead.

Port Trust dominated the scene but failed to add to their lead. Before the call of time however, Vincent scored the equaliser for the Mills.

Extra time was played but with no effect.

Football By Floodlight

WASSP, the famous English rugby team, have found a novel means of training on dark winter evenings. They have equipped their pitch with a paraffin floodlighting system.

The pitch is illuminated with eight or so lamps on each side. The players are dressed in white and can carry out all the normal movements on the rugby field.

The floodlights employed are completely portable, and though they give 3,000 candle power, cost only about one penny to run for eight to ten hours.

The company which makes them claims to be the only firm on the world that is producing portable paraffin pressure floodlights—says that its highly economical lighting system is also being used to considerable extent by farmers for night ploughing, harvesting and sowing, in fact for every kind of agricultural job.

The Sportsman's Sportsfolie

Abortive Attempt To Have S. K. Patil As Head Of Bombay's Cricket

BY J. C. MAITRA.

A big sensation was created at the last annual general meeting of the Bombay Cricket Association when D. P. Thanawalla, a former Secretary of the B.C.A., proposed the name of S. K. Patil, President of the Bombay Provincial Congress Committee, as President of the Association. I have no doubt every body was taken aback at the suggestion, as nobody had even dreamt that Patil's name would be proposed for the position.

Whatever may have been Patil's sporting activities and achievements in his younger days, they have so far remained a closed book to the ignorant public.

I have no reason to suspect that Patil was unaware of Thanawalla's move. Actually the mover was questioned at the meeting whether he had taken the B.P.C.C.'s boss's permission. Thanawalla emphatically stated that he had. Since there has been no contradiction from the Congress House I take it that Patil had given his consent to the proposal.

NOT A SINECURE JOB

I have not the least doubt in my mind that if Patil's intentions were made known to the members earlier and they were told about his achievements in the field of cricket, he would have galloped through the polls without any semblance of opposition. I need hardly say that a dynamic personality like S. K. P. would be an asset to any institution.

But has he the time to spare and devote to the administration of Cricket? It is no longer a sinecure job. It is not for men who want only the honour of the position. Only those who can work seriously and wholeheartedly should aspire for it. Otherwise it would be impossible to make any progress.

NO BAR FOR POLITICIANS

I do not see any objection to professional politicians taking up administrative positions in the field of sport. It must be remembered that the advent of freedom to our country has completely changed the political outlook has completely changed. The erstwhile agitators and jail-goers are now out to build and construct in every sphere of national life. Sport cannot be tabooed from them.

This does not mean that I am advocating the cause of Patil or every political worker in the country. What I wish to stress is that we cannot debar anybody from the sporting field just because he happens to be a politician. Every case must be judged on merit and merit alone.

MINISTERS AT HELM OF SPORT

We have known Ministers in England and other countries acting as office-bearers of various sporting bodies. A case in point was Sir Samuel Hoare, a former Secretary of State for India, who was President of the All-England Lawn Tennis Association for many years.

In India we had Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai, Sir Mahomed Aziz-ul-Haque, Sir Nasimuddin and other administrators and politicians acting as President of one or other of our national sporting bodies. They may not have been great successes in their respective posts owing to want of time or lack of knowledge of the games which they were called upon to administer. But if we have men who have time and are well-versed in the games, I do not see why they should not be helpful. Probably they would be more helpful to sport in many ways.

SIX-DAYS CYCLE RACING IN BRITAIN SUFFERS DUE TO LACK OF SURFACES

Tracks Barred To Professionals To Be Thrown Open To Them

LONDON, Oct. 25 (Reuter): Remembering pre-war years, there can be no doubt that the Six Days Cycle Racing is popular with the crowds, and while it has since drawn packed houses in those countries which have staged such events, it has occasioned some surprise that London has not witnessed the thrills.

It is well-known that Italy, France, Belgium and Holland could produce riders for such a contest and there are men in England who would be willing to test their capabilities against these European stars. The trouble is, however, that no track is available and license difficulties for the procuring of the materials necessary to construct a suitable surface are along responsible for its non-revival. It is known that Sir Arthur Elvin, the controlling genius at Wembley's Empire Pool is quite willing to organise such an event and it is certain that no time would be lost once licenses are allowed for the construction of a track.

Reg Harris, the former World Amateur Sprint Champion who makes his debut as a professional in Belgium this week-end, might well appear as a British star even though most of his fame has been gained over short distances.

There are several plans in prospect for Harris now that he has taken the plunge into professional cycling, and this is one sport where a Ruling Body for Amateurs—the National Cyclists' Union—would do everything in their power to help the standard among professionals.

There is a definite dividing line between Amateur and Professional in many sports but not so cycling, whose Ruling Body would endeavour to get tracks, at present barred to Professionals, opened to them.

In this case, "circus" consisting of Harris and three Continental stars Cor Blijster (Holland), Louis Gerdin (France) and Oscar Plattner (Switzerland) might tour Britain in the summer.

This would certainly give an added interest to Cycle Racing which does not rank so highly among British sports as it does on the Continent.

With some tracks "fitted" to amateur sport, the idea is not practicable at present and there are not enough other tracks to make such a circus a paying proposition. It would need continual bookings if the men are to be recompensed in anything like the same way as are Professional Cyclists on the Continent, and to create new tracks brings up the same difficulty as that which has prevented the revival, so far, of Six-days Racing—licenses for materials.

Mohun Bagan Win Exhibition Match

NEW DELHI, Oct. 25 (A.P.I.): Mohan Bagan of Calcutta today beat the Delhi Selected Eleven by three goals to one in an Exhibition Football Match played here in aid of the Services Welfare Fund.

Mewala, the Mohan Bagan Centre forward, scored two goals while S. Manna, left full-back was responsible for the third goal of his side. Yusufuddin scored the only goal for the Delhi Eleven.

The game which was played at a quick pace through out, was marked by the team work of the visitors and strong defence of the Delhi side which however suddenly collapsed in the last few minutes of the play giving the Mohan Bagan two goals in rapid succession.

The Delhi Eleven was weak in attack and within the first seven minutes its forwards missed two precious chances of scoring. They missed another one later in the second half.

The Delhi Team was, however, successful most of the time in making Mohan Bagan's ineffective offensive. Mewala scored the first goal for the Calcutta Team two minutes before the interval. A ball from Guha, Kurtha was passed on Mazumdar to Mewala who from a very difficult angle managed to kick it in the net. The losers got their goal from a penalty kick.

IMPROVED NET-WORK OF OBSERVATORIES

NEW DELHI, Oct. 25 (A.P.I.): Agricultural Meteorology is one of the subjects on the agenda of the Asian Regional Conference of the International Meteorological Organisation which will meet in India's capital on November 1, 1948.

Another important subject for discussion would be the steps to be taken for setting up an improved network of observatories, particularly in under-represented areas. Meteorological information at present is scanty from Afghanistan, Iran, Mongolia and from the high seas.

Another point which the conference will discuss is the selection of ships for taking meteorological observations on the high seas. The development of stationary weather ships in the Indian Ocean area will also be discussed.

The conference will also take steps to bring about weather reporting by aircraft in flight belonging to different countries. Weather forecasts can be made more accurate if transport aircraft can broadcast information from the nearest aerodrome about height of clouds, different types of clouds, bumpiness of the journey, etc.

An important scientific study which will be helped by the present conference will be that of tropical clouds. Whereas other areas have made detailed studies of the clouds in their region, the evolution and nomenclature of tropical clouds have not yet been fully studied. The conference is expected to discuss proper methods for such studies.

COMMONWEALTH TIES STRONG AS EVER

Comments On London Conference: Says King Great Good Must Follow

NEW YORK, Oct. 24 (Reuter): The New York Herald Tribune said today the London Conference of Commonwealth Prime Ministers provided a demonstration of "the strength inherent in a voluntary association of free peoples."

Both the Herald Tribune and the New York Times agreed that the conference proved Commonwealth ties were as strong as ever. "If not stronger,"

The Herald Tribune added: "It is no doubt Britain's hope that the development of an association of the free nations of Western Europe will be natural and gradual and that it will take such a shape that there will be nothing inconsistent in Britain's development of an association of the free nations of Western Europe which will drive in state to Westminster to make a speech outlining the Government's policy for the coming year."

LONDON, Oct. 25 (Reuter): King George in a speech proroguing Parliament said today that he was sure "great good" must come from the recent conference of Commonwealth Ministers in London.

"The session now ending has been marked by the meeting of my Prime Ministers and other ministers representing Commonwealth countries," he said.

Parliament was being prorogued today in readiness for the new session which begins tomorrow, when the King will drive in state to Westminster to make a speech outlining the Government's policy for the coming year.

FLURRY OF PLATITUDES

SYDNEY, Oct. 24 (Reuter): The Sydney Morning Herald commented today that the London Conference of Commonwealth Prime Ministers "ended as it began—with a fine flurry of platitudes."

The Herald said that although valuable decisions were reached on some questions of broad policy—notably Britain's part in Western Union—apparently little was achieved on the two vital matters of economic and defence co-ordination.

The Adelaide Advertiser, however, said: "It is now clear the conference achieved a useful, even constructive, purpose. Affirmations in the Communique hardly point to an early breakdown of the empire, by whatever name it may be called."

"There are welcome signs that the participation of India, Pakistan and Ceylon has been a real step towards standing of individual viewpoints and also of collective responsibilities."

KING'S COMMENT

LONDON, Oct. 25 (Reuter): King George in a speech proroguing Parliament said today that he was sure "great good" must come from the recent conference of Commonwealth Ministers in London.

"The session now ending has been marked by the meeting of my Prime Ministers and other ministers representing Commonwealth countries," he said.

MANUFACTURE OF DEFENCE ARMAMENTS IN INDIA

VISVESVARAYA APPEALS TO GOVERNMENTS FOR SATISFACTORY ARRANGEMENTS

(From Our Correspondent.)

BANGALORE, Oct. 25. A call to capital labour and Government to think and work with one view for satisfactory increase of production, was made by Sir M. Visvesvaraya, President, All-India Manufacturers' Organisation, addressing the annual convocation of the Mysore University held this morning at the Jagannathan Palace, Mysore.

This year's Convocation was unique in that the University conferred the honorary degree of "Doctor of Laws" in person on Dr. Sir M. Visvesvaraya, a former Dewan of Mysore, who was responsible for the establishment of the University, and on Sir Mirza M. Ismail, also a former Dewan of Mysore, who was rightly called the "Makers of Modern Mysore." The University conferred in absentia the degree of "Doctor of Letters" honoris causa on Maulana Abul Kalam Azad, Minister for Education, Government of India.

Pointing out that "at present prices are high for various reasons: capital, labour and Government have all contributed to the rise," Sir Visvesvaraya suggested that under the present circumstances in India it would be a great achievement if every district is divided into small regional units and the residents of each unit are made to bear the responsibility for production as well as for the preparation of a submission of production statistics.

Sir Visvesvaraya pleaded for satisfactory defence arrangements in the country "so as to give comfort and safety to the public and create a feeling of safety." He added, "every section of the population should know that their country's defences are efficient and safe, and that they are being maintained by corresponding arrangements in similar situated modern countries."

Pointing to the fact that the Government propose to recruit some 1,00,000 in the Army, he said: "The Government will have to make suitable arrangements to provide themselves with the technical staff and the machinery for the manufacture of defence armaments. In future, defence machinery like aircraft, tanks, motor vehicles, and equipment of every kind have to be manufactured in India itself. Contact should be maintained with corresponding equipment in foreign countries. Also an adequate number of institutes for military training have to be established."

He suggested that a "public defence advisory committee of reliable patriotic persons should be studying the strength and equipment in this respect to give assurance to the public that all reasonable precautions are being taken."

"In future," he pointed out, "recruitment should be obtained from all parts and every corner of the country and not confined to any particular castes or communities as was being done under the previous administration. It is understood this aspect of recruitment is already receiving attention."

Speaking of industries—the main source of economic prosperity of leading nations within the past half a century—he gave reasons why industries are given importance in progressive countries, and said, "without proper development of industries, civilised life as lived by prosperous nations will not be possible. Agricultural countries are neither progressive nor prosperous."

FOOD SUPPLY

As regards food supply he was for correct statistics to be maintained to enable Government to make a proper provision for the country's needs and to keep the public correctly "informed at all times of the States of their food supply." He added, "although India is an agricultural country, she has to import a portion of her food supply from outside its boundaries. It is necessary to make arrangements and take stock periodically, in every district and region, of the quantities of products available, the area of food under cultivation and other associated factors in an accurate manner."

Adverting to the population problem in the country Sir Visvesvaraya said it was growing at the rate of 5 to 6 million a year, and so far as the public was aware, there was no corresponding growth of production or income. This anomalous growth, he pointed out, is doubtless causing a progressive lowering of the average standard of living of the entire population.

Pointing out that the business and defence strength of a nation depended upon the capacity and character of its people, Sir Visvesvaraya said, "A new nation has to be built up in India and Government should take into their service, or otherwise utilise for nation-building the services of all men and women who have ability, power or skill and who have ambition to serve their country, no matter to what party they belong."

"As the country now stands," he added, "we will be running serious risks if we neglect preparation for an efficient industrial life. Young men of real talent should try to make a real career for themselves in industry and should begin to treat idleness as a crime. There is no other substitute for hard work if we are to place our national economy on a sound footing."

25,000 TROOPS ENTER FRENCH COAL FIELDS

Occupation Of Pitheads In Progress

CABINET TO DISCUSS SITUATION: WARRANT OF ARREST AGAINST MINERS' UNION LEADER

PARIS, October 25 (Reuters): An army of troops and police unofficially estimated at between 25,000 and 30,000 men entered the Douai-Valenciennes coalfield of northern France at dawn today as the French miners' strike went into its 22nd day. These forces began occupying pithead installations held by strike pickets.

This was the first time a large-scale troops movement had been seen in the northern fields and bloody clashes in the central and southern fields last week led to fears of more violence today.

NO OPPOSITION

Early this afternoon, however, the operation—over an area 25 miles by 10—of the Douai-Valenciennes coalfield, was ordered to-day by Communist-led unions to protest against incidents at neighbouring Firminy, where a miner was killed.

The Force Ouvriere (non-Communist) and Catholique Trade Union decided to stop work for one hour only as a sign of mourning.

The mayor of St. Etienne, where a striker was shot when a police patrol opened fire on Saturday, has appealed to the Strike Committee and local Union leaders to negotiate a settlement and asked strikers' representatives to meet him at the Town Hall to-day.

A party of miners' children, threatened with want as strike funds run out, was leaving St. Etienne to-day for Lyons and the South West. The first 300 came to Paris last night. At Lyons, the Southern Railway, railwaymen belonging to the Communist General Confederation of Labour (C.G.T.), were holding a twenty-four-hour strike to-day, but non-Communist Unionists were not taking part.

SOVIET VETO ON BERLIN ISSUE

made pencil marks on what appeared to be a prepared speech. He was flanked by six advisers, sitting in a solid block behind him.

REMOVAL OF RESTRICTIONS

The first of these steps, Dr. Jessup continued, was the reciprocal removal of restrictions imposed since March 1 by the Soviet and three Western Governments on communications, transport and commerce.

Dr. Jessup declared that, immediately the resolution is adopted, and even before it is notified to the four Governments, "the United States will take steps to ensure compliance on our part with the provisions for the lifting of the restrictions and for the meeting of Military Governors."

He added that the second step was the meeting of the four Military Governors for the purpose of arranging for the unification of the currency of Berlin on the basis of the German mark of the Soviet zone under four power control.

Dr. Jessup said that under the proposed programme the Council of Foreign Ministers would meet on November 30 to discuss the whole German question unless the arrangements for the unification of the Berlin currency had been completed before November. Ministers would meet ten days after the completion of such negotiations.

"If the Foreign Ministers of the countries in question agree, then the Council may be held at any other date."

"The United States in a spirit of accommodation accepts the principles of this resolution and is ready to carry them out in full good faith."

"I hope that there will be no members of this Council who will not find this to be a fruitful and satisfactory solution to this grave problem."

Just as the President, Dr. Bramuglia, was about to put the resolution to the vote, M. Andrei Vyshinsky, delegate of the Soviet Union, signified his intention of speaking.

"The Soviet delegation has studied carefully the draft resolution submitted by the six Powers to the Security Council on the so-called Berlin question," he said.

"The Security Council agreed to consider the question despite the objections, raised by the Soviet delegation, which indicated that the matter was not within the purview of the Council. In justifying its position the Soviet Delegation advanced complete and convincing arguments which leave no doubt that the matter was beyond the powers of the Council."

VIKSHINSKY WARMS UP

Federation Executive's Decision At Calcutta

AFFILIATED UNIONS TO HOLD BALLOT BY END OF NOVEMBER: GENERAL SECRETARY'S STATEMENT

CALCUTTA, Oct. 25 (API): The National Executive Committee of All-India Port and Dock Workers' Federation at a meeting held in Calcutta yesterday, resolved to call upon port and dock workers at all Indian ports to strike work from December 18.

The General Secretary of the Federation, in an announcement says that the strike decision will be put to the affiliated Unions for ratification by a suitable ballot by the end of November, and in case the decision is ratified, notices of strike will be served on the employers concerned.

CHARTER OF DEMANDS

The Executive Committee meeting was attended by the President of the Federation, Mr. Shibbanlal Saxena, and representatives of all the Port and Dock Unions from Bombay, Calcutta and Madras," adds the Secretary. He says that "in May a charter of demands was submitted by the Federation to the Port and Dock authorities and to the Government. A deputation of the Federation also waited on the Labour Minister of the Government of India for discussing the demands, when it was urged that to avert a crisis, the Government should appoint a Tribunal to go into the specific demands embodied in the Charter and enforce immediately the scheme for regulating the employment of stevedore dock workers prepared by the Special Committee appointed by the Government."

MINISTER / SKS FOR TIME

"The Labour Minister had pleaded for time and a period of about three months was mutually agreed upon. But unfortunately the Government has failed to take any decision in the matter so far. In the meantime the lot of workers has further deteriorated, leading to exasperation, resulting in the recent Bombay dockers' strike which the Federation tried its best to solve through conciliation. In these circumstances, the Federation has been led to take the decision for an All-India general strike as a last resort."

PROBLEM OF GREECE BEFORE U. N.

Balkans' Committee Report Accuses Three Nations

PARIS, Oct. 25 (Reuters)—The problem of Greece came before the United Nations today in the form of a report by a Special Committee on the Balkans, calling on the General Assembly to condemn Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania for helping Gen. Markos' guerrilla forces.

The nine-nation Committee's report said "great quantities of arms, ammunition and other military supplies" had been furnished to the Markos' forces with the knowledge of these three Governments.

The Committee added that in recent months there was "less evidence" of supplies reaching these forces from Yugoslavia.

The 58-nation Political Committee, which today began consideration of this report, spent the morning in East-West skirmishing on whether to hear representatives of the Bulgarian and Albanian Governments and also, of Gen. Markos.

It adopted a United States proposal to allow the three Governments a limited opportunity to speak, but adjourned till tomorrow before deciding whether it would hear a representative of the Markos' "Provisional Greek Democratic Government."

Linguistic Province And Cosmopolitan Cities

the other components makes the problem more complicated than ever.

Bombay's Fears

Linguistic unity was thus hit upon as offering the best solution of immediate difficulties. The ambitions aroused by this prospect in representatives of important linguistic divisions smothered of scarcely veiled imperialism which those not quite so well endowed, or circumstance have every reason to dread. This is particularly so in regard to such cosmopolitan and heterogeneous units as the Metropolitan cities of Madras or Bombay. The neighbourhood of areas with considerable voting power, likely to be arranged in linguistic divisions around them, makes these cities all the more nervous, since, in the conflict of claims put forward by such neighbours, their own immediate interests may be wholly neglected. It is this issue which forms the most difficult part of the problem, and will accordingly be considered more fully in the following articles.

WORTH STREET WEEKLY REVIEW
NEW YORK, Oct. 23 (UFA). Skidding prices for cotton print cloths highlighted a checkered pattern in textile markets this week.

Cotton bag sheetings were held steady to a firm on broadening demand from bag makers and industrial users who were reluctant to pay Calcutta's high prices.

Cotton prices dropped 18 cents from the post-war high. While raw cotton was in the decline, some goods manufacturers maintained that the advances gave an offset by wage increases.

Osnaburgs, narrow sheetings, fertilizer feed and flour bag manufactures booked a good volume at firm prices.

Future Of World Federation Of Trade Unions

VIEWS OF BRITISH T. U. C.

(By Herbert Tracey, Member of Britain's Trades Union Congress and Editor of "Labour", the official journal of the T.U.C.)

What can be done to save the World Federation of Trade Unions from disruption in the near future? The question still awaits an answer.

It cannot be said that the recent meeting of the Federation's Executive Bureau in Paris gave much hope of an agreement being reached and secured for its survival. Complete breakdown of the negotiations with the International Trade Secretariats brought the Federation nearer the crisis. The Trade Secretariats' Negotiating Committee have reported failure to come to terms with the Federation on merging their separate organisations in the new Trade Departments within the framework of the Federation. There seems to be little likelihood that the Trade Secretariats will change their attitude.

A comment on the question of the relations between the Federation and the Trade Secretariats comes from the General Secretary of Britain's National Union of General Workers, the most influential union in the International Transport Workers' Federation. He says, that it has been found impossible to reconcile the insistence of the Federation on the principle of general responsibility of these Trade Secretariats with the strong conviction that they know better than any other organisation outside their field of work—that are their problems and responsibilities.

attitude of the British T.U.C. in this matter, and with the decisions taken on behalf of the International Trade Secretariats in the recent conference of their representatives in Paris, mid-September.

"A BETRAYAL"

Reference is also made to this question in the T.U.C.'s monthly journal. In its report on the debate that took place at the Margate Congress of the Federation, the journal says that "what has happened in W.F.T.U." is nothing less than a betrayal of the whole idea of the international trade union organisation.

The British Trade Union Movement was the World Federation's main object for which it was formed and not to disappoint the millions who look to it as their hope. It was above all the World Federation to liberate itself from the political machinations in which it is becoming enmeshed.

The Secretary of the British T.U.C., Mr. Vincent Tewson, also refers in the leading article in the current number of the T.U.C. journal to this matter. He says that the great crisis came to define its attitude to the World Federation the delegates showed themselves in no mood to continue to sanction the heavy expenditure of time and money on the organisation unless it displayed a more efficient and effective discharge of its duties as formulated at its inception."

| PROPHETIC WARNING                   | REMEDIAL MEASURES         |
| The world is filled with the wicked | The leaders of the Nation |

He goes on to deal with the "Under the Union" campaign launched by the United Nations in 1962. He says that the initiative was widely discussed at the recent Trades Union Congress at Margate. He recalls the warning given by Lord Citrine, then General Secretary of the T.U.C., and President of the Congress, that the Union should not let its inaugural meeting three years ago. "If once we get into the maze of politics, as surely as I am standing at this rostrum, this International will perish. It will split because of the disruption of the political aspiration, desire, method and policy are so wide that they would divide us."

"That prophecy," the Secretary of the National Union of Seamen says, is fulfilled. "The International is in a state of stagnation in the World Federation. He says the Margate Conference decision gives, in effect, a free hand to the T.U.C. General Council in seeking to change the constitution of the International of the Federation's constitution. That constitution permits no national centre to dominate the Federation or to prevent full expression of the views of any national centre."

"I may be," he continues, "that this Union is in full accord with the

HANDWRITING EXPERT'S EVIDENCE IN GANDHI MURDER CASE CONTINUES

RED FORT, DELHI, OCT. 25 (UPI)—Mr. Thakurdas Jaikishandas Gajjar, Chief Handwriting Expert, Provincial C.I.D., Poona, was further examined today in the Gandhi Murder Case at Red Fort.

Mr. Gajjar said that he had compared the document relating to the entry dated February 2, 1948 in the visitors' register of Sea Green Hotel, Bombay with the specimen handwriting of Vishnu R. Karkare and had come to the conclusion that the writer in both the cases was the same.

Witness had examined the document relating to the entry dated January 20, 1948 in the visitors' register of Frontier Hotel, Delhi, and had come to the conclusion that the signature "G. M. Joshi" in Devanagari script was in the handwriting of the same person who (Vishnu Karkare) had given specimen handwriting marked "P-115-7-200".

Mr. Gajjar said that he had also examined the document relating to an entry dated January 17, 1948 in the visitors' register of Sheriff Hindu Hotel, and after comparing it with the specimen handwriting of Vishnu Karkare had come to the conclusion that the writer of "V. M. Vias" in the document was that of the specimen handwriting marked "P-115-7-200".

Mr. Gajjar said that he had also examined the document relating to the entry dated January 17, 1948 in the visitors' register of Sheriff Hindu Hotel, Delhi, and had come to the conclusion that the English writings in the said document were written by the same person who wrote "V" series (specimen handwriting of Madanlal). Among the reasons for coming to the above conclusion, he said, were that those writings revealed the same standard of penmanship and that the general writing characteristics such as slant, spacing, string, alignment, curves, etc., showed similar tendencies.

Witness had also examined the document relating to entry dated January 20, 1948 in the visitors' register of Frontier Hotel, Delhi, and had found that the red encircled signature in the document was written by the same person who wrote "V" series (specimen handwriting of Gopal V. Godse).

Mr. Gajjar also examined a letter from V. K. Karkare to Digambar Reddy, dated May 29, 1947, and came to the conclusion that the writings on the letter were in the handwriting of the same person who wrote "U" series (specimen handwriting of Vishnu R. Karkare).

Witness examined two policies of Oriental Government Security Life Assurance Company Ltd., and found that the signature N. V. Godse in both the policies and the name "Nathuram Vinayak Godse" in one of the policies were written by the same person who wrote "T" series (specimen handwriting of Nathuram V. Godse). The writings in witness columns of both the policies were in the handwriting of the

CREATING A CLIMATE FOR SOCIALISM

National Executive Of Party Formulates Constructive Work Plan

MAHABALESHWAR, Oct. 25 (API): The National Executive of the Socialist Party of India today released for publication its programme on Constructive Work for the rural and urban areas in the country.

A Central Committee of five persons would direct this work, the object of which was not only to serve the Party organisation but to tap the energy of a large number of sympathisers of the Party, who might not be able to be its active workers.

A report on the subject now approved stated that the constructive work of the Party would be "creating a climate for Socialism."

"Every town and city would have Constructive Work Committees, active not only in the working class areas but also among the lower middle class 'whose goodwill and active support was essential in any programme of socialism.'"

In rural areas the social and economic needs of villages would be carefully studied and the work would be extended to all spheres of village life including economic, social, civic, and educational.

Dealing with blackmarkets was one of the activities programme, and this would include vigilance work, exposure of blackmarket practices and, after careful thought, social boycott of offenders.

HINDUS' PROPERTY IN PAKISTAN

Sir Prakasa On Possibility Of Recovery In Part

LUCKNOW, Oct. 24 (API): An appeal that every effort should be made to remove all trace of ill-feeling between the peoples of Indian and Pakistan, was made by Mr. Sri Prakasa, High Commissioner for India in Pakistan, addressing a meeting of the U.P. Congress Legislature Party at the Council House last evening.

It was essential, he said, that relations of the greatest goodwill of friendship should be established between the two States to enable us to concentrate our resources on the task of national Reconstruction. In bringing over Hindus, for example, Rs. 22 crores had to be spent and property worth Rs. 1,400 crores had been left by the Hindus in Pakistan. If Indo-Pakistan relations improved, the restoration of any Hindu living room would be secured. He pointed out that twelve lakhs out of fourteen lakhs non-Muslims had come out of Sind alone, and now Hindus from East Bengal were coming in.

If there were people who thought that Pakistan was weak, Mr. Prakasa would tell them that the same spirit of enthusiasm which had helped Muslims to bring Pakistan into existence, was helping them to overcome all difficulties and shortcomings. They were working hard to make their State a great success.

India's Scholars From Overseas

REGAINS MEMORY AFTER 20 MONTHS

GRAND RAPIDS, Michigan. (UPI): A tall gaunt man, his face deeply tanned and hands calloused, stood on the door of a modest Grand Rapids home in the night and said: "Do you know me?"

Mrs. William Aston looked for a moment at the man and said: "No, I cannot believe..." He turned so the light from a living room caught his profile. "Bill!" she said.

Dr. William Aston, 35, told today of his homecoming after wandering for 20 months as an amnesia victim. His appearance had changed so much that his wife could not recognize him for a moment and his children Patricia, 5, and Katherine, 3, had forgotten him. "Mother, who is that man?" Patricia asked.

Dr. Aston said he was sitting in a Chicago restaurant eating dinner last Monday night when the song, "Because," caused his memory to snap into working order.

He looked at his hands. Once the hands of a promising young doctor they were covered with callouses and nails were broken.

"I do not know what day it was," he said. "I do not know where I was and the worst of all I do not know where I have been."

Dr. Aston disappeared in early 1947 while driving to the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minnesota. The automobile was found in Norfolk, Virginia.

Mrs. Aston never gave up hopes that he was alive. A Norfolk family saw his picture in a newspaper and wrote Mrs. Aston that they had seen him on a Norfolk street. She took a job as a nurse to support their two children and to keep their home in Grand Rapids where Aston came to practice after leaving military service.

"I have worked as a labourer because of the tan I have and the large callouses on my hands," he said. "The first thing I remembered was thinking the song over the radio had been played at my wedding; then remembered my wife and our children. Then I remembered who I was and wondered what I was doing in this strange restaurant. But what I did during those months is a blank."

Aston looked at his wife, then at his children and smiled. The children smiled back at him.

"I am going to do the only thing I know how to do," he said. "Practice medicine."

BRIGHT FUTURE FOR UNITED NATIONS

Kolb Bernard Hopes India Would Take Important Part In Its Work

CALCUTTA, Oct. 25 (API): The make that agency more vigorous or effective.

Consul-General for France in Calcutta, M. Kolb-Bernard, told a United Nations Club meeting here yesterday that India, the country where Mahatma Gandhi, the apostle of peace and non-violence, was born—must take a leading part in the work of the United Nations for a better future for humanity. He was sure that inspired by Mahatma Gandhi's ideals the leaders of India would greatly contribute to promoting a spirit of mutual understanding in the world.

M. Kolb-Bernard added that people might or might not agree with the U.N. carried on its work, but they should agree on the need for strengthening, in spirit that animates for increased peace, the United Nations.

Dr. W. P. Tsal, Consul-General for China, said that the people desiring international peace should appeal to their states to give up the habit of using the U.N. as a tool for settling disputes. They should take up with sincerity the outstanding post-war problems and work for their solution.

U. N. GROUP RESUMES HUMAN RIGHTS DEBATE

PARIS, Oct. 22.—The U.N. Social, Humanitarian and Cultural Committee Thursday began discussion on article four of the draft declaration on human rights, under the new limited-debate rules. The group earlier decided to take up on October 29 the report of Acting U.N. Mediator Ralph Bunche calling for increased aid to the Palestine refugees but rejected a Soviet proposal to follow this action with a discussion of other refugee and repatriation problems.

The majority of the committee favoured continuing the human rights declaration debate while a small working group studied the refugee problem. However, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, U.S. representative, cautioned against turning the matter over to a sub-committee at once, urging that the delegates have an opportunity to consult their governments about the extent of aid and how it could be distributed, so that the sub-committee would have something tangible to work on.

Mr. Roosevelt also opposed the Soviet plan to take up other refugee questions after the conclusions of the Near Eastern relief problem, pointing out that the committee agenda called for the consideration of freedom of information conventions next.

With the human rights declaration debate limited to 10 minutes for the opening speech by each delegation and five minutes for the second speech, some delegates were reported hopeful of winding up action on the document soon. The debate curb was urged by the Swedish delegate.

Article four of the declaration draft states: "No one shall be held in slavery or involuntary servitude. No one shall be subject to cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment."—USIS.

U. N. Re-elects World Court Judges

PARIS, Oct. 25. The U. N. General Assembly and Security Council have reelected five judges of the International Court of Justice to serve nine-year terms.

Re-elected on the first ballot were: Abdul Hamid Badawi, Pasha of Egypt, Hsu Mo of China, John E. King, Lord of Canada and Bogdan Winarski of Poland.

Milovan Zoric of Yugoslavia, the fifth judge, was re-elected on the third ballot. Absolute majorities of both the assembly and the council were required for the election. Zoric was supported in both the U. N. bodies by the United States. The Soviet Union in the initial balloting backed a Czechoslovak candidate, Prof. Antonin Hobza. It finally swung its support to Zoric when it appeared that a Greek candidate might win.

The elections were necessitated by the fact that when the court's 15 judges were first elected in 1946, their terms were staggered by five years to expire in 1949, 1952 and 1955.—USIS.

Increase In Ecosoc Membership Asked

PARIS, Oct. 25. A Peruvian proposal calling for an amendment to the U. N. Charter to expand the membership of the U. N. Economic and Social Council to 25 from the present 18 won the approval of two U. N. Assembly committee Saturday.

The proposal was approved with only one negative vote—that of the United States—at a joint meeting of the U. N. Assembly Economic and Financial Committee and the Social, Humanitarian and Cultural Committee.

U. S. delegate Willard Thorp said that an amendment of the U. N. Charter should be undertaken only if there is assurance that the United Nations as a whole would benefit by the change. He doubted that expansion of the ECOSOC would result in such benefit.

Thorp pointed out that all U. N. members have the right to submit items for the ECOSOC agenda and can participate in ECOSOC discussions whenever they are interested. He expressed doubt that a larger membership for the ECOSOC would

The Social Committee also adopted article five of the draft declaration on human rights Saturday. The article as amended states: "Every human being has the right to recognition 'everywhere as a person before the law.'"

The fourth article of the declaration was approved Friday. It reads: "Slavery and the slave trade are prohibited in all their aspects. No one shall be held in slavery or servitude. No one shall be subjected to torture or to cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment."

The initial sentence was added to original draft in the form of a Soviet amendment. The Committee rejected a second Soviet suggestion calling for punishment of violators. The Chilean delegate pointed out that implementation of the rights provisions is to be embodied in the planned human rights covenant.—USIS.

Unesco's Programme For Japan Discussed With General MacArthur

PARIS (By Mail). Dr. Kuo Yu-Shou, Special Adviser to the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization on Asia and the Far East, has returned to Paris after visiting Japan, where he discussed with the Supreme Commander Allied Powers, General Douglas MacArthur, his staff and Japanese civilian authorities, the desirability of extending Unesco's programme to that country.

General MacArthur expressed complete agreement with the extension to Japan of certain Unesco activities with a view to developing close relationship between Unesco and SCAP (Supreme Commander Allied Powers). Contact will also be established between Unesco and Japanese civilian agencies and individuals through SCAP.

It has been urged that priority be given to allow the Japanese population to study the objectives and activities of Unesco and to make available for this purpose appropriate materials and documents which would contribute to a better programme of education about Unesco.

The Supreme Commander has also thought it desirable for observers from SCAP to attend sessions of Unesco Conferences. "No one shall be held in slavery or involuntary servitude. No one shall be subject to cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment."—USIS.

SRI PRAKASA EULOGISES U. N. IDEALS

LUCKNOW, Oct. 25 (UPI): An eloquent tribute to the ideals of the United Nations Organisation, was paid by Mr. Sri Prakasa, Indian High Commissioner in Pakistan, addressing the Rotarians here at a luncheon given by the Club on the occasion of the celebration of the third anniversary of the foundation of the U.N.O.

It was fitting, he said, that Lucknow which represented the best in diverse cultures which had mingled to form a synthesis in India, was celebrating the anniversary of an organisation which was of supreme importance to the promotion of peace and goodwill among the nations of the world today.

It had been his privilege, he added, to watch at close quarters the work of the United Nations Organisation, which came out to settle Indo-Pakistan differences on the Kashmir issue and he was happy to be able to pay a sincere tribute to the devotion and courage with which the Commission set themselves to the task of finding a solution to the just and acceptable to both the States. He further paid high tributes to the high statesmanship, unswerving faith and courage and firmness of purpose with which the Prime Minister of India, Pandit Nehru, accepted the Commission's formula to maintain the dignity of the International Tribunal.

Mr. Sri Prakasa, continuing observed that the United Nations Organisation and its Commissions and Committees were serving the world not only by their successes but also by their failures; for its failures were pointers as to which was the right path and which the wrong one, and ultimately it was bound to succeed.

He recalled the frightful sufferings, which thousands had to undergo as a result of partition because the law of violence had prevailed for the time being over the gospel of non-violence which had been preached by the Father of the Nation from one end of the country to the other ever since he had stepped on the scene of Indian public life. "I plead in India," said Mr. Sri Prakasa, "and I plead in Pakistan that the only road to peace and prosperity is the road of mutual understanding and the readiness to accept facts, however unpleasant they may be."

He, however, expressed the hope that before long the present difficulties might be solved and there might be peace in the country and in the whole world. "For peace we live and for peace we should die," Mr. Sri Prakasa concluded.
